MESSAGE

I am delighted to know that Indira Gandhi Delhi Technical University for Women is organising its 4th Convocation ceremony. I extend my heartiest congratulations to all the students, faculty members and staff and the administration of University. IGDTUW family deserves special congratulations for their combined and continuous efforts to make this day possible.

The pace of innovation, research and technical change is accelerating everyday in IGDTUW. It has constantly thrived to keep in pace with the changing technology and has moulded the students into innovative, tech savvy and promising in the path of excellence. I foresee the young women graduate becoming anchors in moderating and benchmarking research and development activities. I am optimistic that the graduating students will undoubtedly make the best use of this hard earned privilege and not only live up to the responsibilities that go with it, but also lead a happy, involved and joyous life. I am happy that IGDTUW has been empowering the women students with quality knowledge, skill and the ability and inculcates in them the right attitude and holistic values.

On this occasion of high hopes and expectations, I am sure the graduates from here shall be able to envision their roles for the society and country while becoming one with their future goals. I congratulate all the students and IGDTUW family once again with a hope that this luminous tradition of excellence shall continue forever. I wish IGDTUW every success in achieving its aim and mission.
